

SHE STARTS INVESTING

Cookie Policy

Last updated: 02/09/2026

This Cookie Policy explains how She Starts Investing ("we," "us," "our") uses cookies and similar technologies on shestartsinvesting.com (the "Site").

1. What are cookies?

Cookies are small text files placed on your device when you visit a website. They're used to make websites function properly, remember your preferences, or understand how visitors use a site.

2. What we currently use

At this time, the Site uses only the cookies that are strictly necessary for it to function correctly (for example, keeping the site secure and loading properly). We do not currently use analytics, advertising, or tracking cookies.

3. If this changes

If we add analytics, advertising, or other non-essential cookies in the future (for example, to understand how visitors use the Site or to run ads), we will update this policy and add a cookie consent banner that lets you accept or reject those cookies before they're set, in line with applicable law.

4. Third-party content

Some pages may link out to third-party platforms (such as Instagram or our email/content providers). Those platforms may set their own cookies once you're on their site — this policy only covers cookies set on shestartsinvesting.com itself. We encourage you to review their respective cookie and privacy policies.

5. Managing cookies

Even for strictly necessary cookies, you can usually control or delete them through your browser settings. Note that blocking essential cookies may affect how the Site functions.

6. Contact us

Questions about this policy? Email us at andzelika@idzik.io.