

SHE STARTS INVESTING

Disclaimer

Last updated: 02/09/2026

All content published by She Starts Investing — including but not limited to Instagram posts, Reels, Stories, free and paid guides, emails, and any other materials — is provided for educational purposes only and does not constitute financial, investment, tax, or legal advice.

Andzelika Idzik is not a licensed financial advisor, and nothing on this Site or across She Starts Investing's channels should be interpreted as a recommendation to buy, sell, or hold any specific security, fund, or financial product. Any real companies, markets, or products referenced are used strictly for illustrative or educational purposes and are never an endorsement or suggestion to act.

Investing involves risk, including the potential loss of principal. Please do your own research or speak to a licensed advisor before making any investment decisions. Past performance is not indicative of future results.

By using this Site or engaging with She Starts Investing's content, you acknowledge that any decisions you make regarding your finances are your own responsibility.

"No financial advice, just financial confidence — see you next coffee break!"